Ships of the future

Experts think ships will be very different in the future. Many ships will use clean energy, like wind, sun and hydrogen. Some ships will be autonomous — they won't need a captain on board. Computers will control the route and robots will check the engines. But sailors won't disappear: people will still be necessary to make important decisions and repair problems.

A. Write T (true) or F (false).

1. Ships will use clean energy. T
2. All ships will need a captain on board. F
3. Robots will check the engines. T
4. Sailors will disappear. F

B. Answer the questions in English.

1. What types of clean energy will ships use?
   → Wind, sun and hydrogen.
2. Why will people still be necessary?
   → To make important decisions and repair problems.
